Backup Diagram

Backup 3-2-1 Policy

The 3-2-1 backup rule is a data protection strategy that recommends creating three copies of your data, storing them on two different media types, and keeping one copy off-site. This method ensures data redundancy and protection against various failure scenarios, including hardware failures, data corruption, and natural disasters. By following this rule, you can significantly reduce the risk of data loss and improve your ability to recover data in case of a disaster.

Disaster Recovery

Disaster recovery (DR) is a process for restoring an organization's IT infrastructure and operations after a disruptive event, whether natural or human-caused. The goal is to minimize the impact of the disaster and restore normal operations as quickly as possible.

Firewall

A firewall is a network security device that acts as a barrier between a trusted internal network and untrusted external networks, like the internet. It monitors, filters, and controls incoming and outgoing network traffic based on predefined security rules. Firewalls help protect networks from unauthorized access, malicious activities, and potential threats.

Antivirus

Antivirus software is a security program designed to protect computers and other devices from malware, such as viruses, worms, trojans, and ransomware. It works by detecting, preventing, and removing these malicious threats, helping to keep devices secure and prevent data loss or damage.

Hard disk RAID

HDD RAID refers to using multiple hard disk drives (HDDs) together in a Redundant Array of Independent Disks (RAID) configuration. RAID is a storage system that combines multiple physical drives into a single logical unit to improve performance, increase storage capacity, or provide data redundancy (protection against drive failures).

SSL Encryption

SSL encryption, or Secure Sockets Layer, is a protocol that secures online communication by encrypting data transmitted between a website and a web browser or between two servers. It's a key part of what makes websites appear secure, represented by a padlock icon in the browser's address bar. Essentially, SSL encryption ensures that sensitive information like passwords, payment details, and personal data remains private and protected from interception during online transmission.

Alert & Monitoring

An alert and monitoring tool is a system used to proactively track the health and performance of systems, applications, or infrastructure, and then automatically notify administrators or operators when specific conditions are met or thresholds are breached. These tools help identify and resolve potential issues before they impact users.
